DEDICATION

For his many years of service, which continue to this day

For his many years as President of the West End House and West End House Camp (1979 to 1989)

For his friendship, guidance, loyalty, compassion and dedication

For his West End House Spirit

For his generosity

For his leadership and involvement

For being a person whom everyone genuinely loves, admires and respects

The 1989 West End House Camp SPIRIT is affectionately and humbly dedicated to

MICHAEL W. CATALDO, SR.

A MESSAGE FROM THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

It hardly seems possible that another summer has passed - this one, like the others before it, 8 weeks filled with a lot of fun, camaraderie, and spirit. It was nice to see the familiar faces once more, as well as to welcome new campers. We are more and more branching out and welcoming boys from many different areas - this greater mixture makes camp a more exciting and interesting place for all of us!

My deepest thanks to the staff for a job well done. Special gratitude to Kevin Lustig for all of his assistance and advice, his work at the waterfront, his miraculous job of typing and producing the 1989 Spirit, and his special concern for camp.

The camp could not have worked as well as it did without the planning and programming of David Andelman and John Zinman, two long time and talented counselors whose abilities contributed to our successful season.

I have always said that the most valuable person for West End House is Dwight Day - very special appreciation for his year round dedication to our facility, for his friendship, and for his uncanny ability to solve the many problems that occur each summer with plumbing, fuses, etc. A special hello to Linda, Joseph and especially Jerry, and thanks to Dwight's assistant, Peter Meggison.

Our medical staff was superb - Jeanne Colbath nursed us through Color War with determination and care and it was great to have her back for her third year. Thanks, Jeanne, for being there for the kids and for the additions to the Time Capsule!

Doctors Evan Hack, Jim Kita, Bob Levin and Jim Peggs were welcomed to our Camp for tours of duty and helped keep us healthy and patched up! Each and every one was a pleasure to have and each gave of himself with enthusiasm and professionalism much appreciated by all of us! Warmest gratitude to Dr. Charles Schlosberg for his great help!

Everett, Arlene and Sue made sure the food was tasty, well prepared, and bountiful! I'll miss the early morning chats with them and thank them for the long, hard and hot hours they put in each day on our behalf. And thanks for Gillian's food!

You know, the West End House is more than a Camp. It is a Charter Member of Boys Clubs of America that operates a Boys and Girls Club in the Allston-Brighton area of Boston. For over 80 years we have helped kids from all walks of life. I cordially invite you to visit our Clubhouse at 105 Allston St., Allston (617-787-4044). I am always there and would warmly welcome a visit. We have a large, heated swimming pool, gymnasium, arts & crafts, pool and bumper pool, ping pong, etc. You are all members - come on down!

Even as you read this we are making plans for 1990 - a new decade! Be part of it - tell your friends about us, refer them to me and let us together make next summer the biggest and best of all time. Let us begin the 1990's with that special West End House bond and spirit that has made us so great for the past 8 decades.

The Annual Camp Breakfast and Reunion will be held on January at the Allston Club. We look forward to greeting you then - sort of the midway point as we wend our way to 1990.

Thanks to all of you for making 1989 so memorable and so much fun. It was truly a pleasure to have been with you - let's do it again next year!

MESSAGE FROM THE EDITOR-IN-CHIEF:

This is not the first "message" I've put into a West End House Spirit; in fact, I don't know how many I have written. But, whatever.

This is always hard for me, because I know camp is over and it will be a long time before I will see many of you again, if ever. The one saving grace is the Spirit you're now reading. It holds memories of the previous 8 weeks and it will permanently hold those memories. Tonight, the night before the busses take the campers home, I am sitting in Bill's cabin typing away while several other counselors are reading old Spirits -- whether from 1988, 1985 (the other time I put together one of these), or as long ago as 1959.

Hold onto this packet of pages. Read it and remember all the fun you've had this summer. I hope in 30 years from now, one of you, or maybe even one of our children will be looking back on this Spirit the way we're doing right now.

Thanks for a great summer and I hope you all come back again next year.

MESSAGES

From the Infirmary:

The camp nurse has the dubious job of trying to care for about 100 campers and 30 staff who all have forgotten how to follow routine health practices learned at home. Then when a problem occurs, you arrive at sick hall expecting a magical pill to make it all better.

During Color War, I looked down 40 throats in 6 days that were sore from "singing," gave out 150 Vitamin C pills, 500 throat lozenges, 50 ice packs, and applied at least 100 bandaids.

My most memorable day was when Lewis Tom came to me complaining of ear pain after having toothpaste squirted in it the night before. None of my medical books list the treatment for such a problem.

Best wishes to all of you.

Jeanne Colbath

From the Waterfront:

This feels like the 8000th time I've written this note and who knows how many more? I'm glad to say that the waterfront was a fun, safe, and very "used" area at camp this year. Since we didn't have too much rain, many campers learned new swimming skills and enjoyed the soothing waters of Long Pond at the same time.

My special thanks go to the swimming teachers: Matt Bloch, Andy Zinman, Adam Bernard, Jamie Zibbell, Mike Santosuosso, Mike Lamkin, and Dave Mendelsohn. I would particularly like to send my appreciation to my brother, Mark, who is back at school in Virginia right now. Without him having taken responsibility for the junior division, I would not have been able to do the job I was here to do.

I would also like to thank all of the staff for cooperating (most of the time) with the staff assignments on such activities as croquet, tennis, archery, wiffleball, badminton (for a day or two), boat rides, and boating. General swims -- I forgot, I wasn't going to talk about them ever again.

I hope everyone had a good summer and has a good fall, winter, and spring.

Kevin Lustig

INTERCAMP SPORTS

From staff volleyball to 9&under baseball, West End House Camp again represented itself honorably en route to another winning season.

One highlight of the intercamp sports season was West End's own "Iron Team" basketball tournament (13 & under). The tourney consisted of five teams, including West End, Cedar, Skylemar, Winaco, and Robin Hood. The games began at ten in the morning and the final was played at 7:30 p.m. West End crushed every team except Robin Hood, who bowed to us by a six point margin in the preliminary round. We then faced Robin Hood in the finals in front of a packed rec hall, and destroyed them by a score of 50-27. Peter Fandel was the M.V.P. of the tourney, with a lot of help from Captains Dan Andelman and Eric Wilensky. Also on the championship team were Scott Eagerman, Ron Glickman, Dave Gorin, and Sean Farrell.

This same team, minus star Peter "Devotion" Fandel, who missed the Robin Hood cutoff date by a few weeks, took the Robin Hood tourney a week later, proving how fantastic a team they really were.

Another great memory of this season was our 14 & Under baseball team, led by star pitcher Ron Glickman and coaches John and Andy Zinman. Against some of the finest competition in the Maine area, West End advanced to the finals of the Samoset tournament before losing to the host team.

Our 13 & Under soccer team also made quite a name for itself, advancing to a semi-final shootout before exiting the Robin Hood soccer tournament. Veteran Coach Lane Davis led the squad, which featured skillful players like Todd Paris and Matt DeAngelis.

Besides all of these teams, West End fielded 10 and 12 & under soccer teams, 15 & under baseball and basketball teams, 11 and under softball and others.

To those boys who played on teams, I commend you on a job well done. You proved yourselves not only talented athletes, but also fierce competitors and good sportsmen.

My thanks also go out to our great coaches, who made sure West End never went into a game unprepared.

Sincerely,

Dave Andelman
W.E.H.C. Intercamp Sports Director

SENIOR LEAGUES

Once again, West End House had a great summer for senior leagues. As usual, all campers showed the West End Spirit of enthusiasm and intensity during their games.

During the first two weeks, campers entered the fraternity league. The teams included the A E Pi's, Phi Psi's, Fiji's, and the champion ZBT's.

As new campers arrived, new teams were arranged. The new league was dubbed the comedian league. Campers were either placed on the "Dicemen," the "Mandels" (Howie, not Peter), the "Wrights," or the "Dangerfields." At the close of this season, the Dangerfields were atop the standings chart.

After Visiting Day, the senior division became overloaded with campers. As a result, the league had to be expanded to six teams. As expansion came, the "Just Anything" league was created. After the six teams were formed, the Zinny's overcame the competition, which included the "Custard with raisins," the "Big Mammias," the "Moishe Goldsteins," the "Rauls," and the "Oobah Doobahs."

I am very pleased to say that the campers adjusted to the frequent changes very well. I am also pleased to say that the League Captains -- Eric Wilensky, Ed Sherman, Todd Grossman, Peter Fandel, Scott Eagerman, Jon Santer, Brian Bloch, Danny Andelman, David Gorin, Ron Cochran, Ron Glickman, and Billy Faria -- did a fantastic job throughout the summer. These twelve campers showed great leadership qualities that will definitely make an impact on our staff for years to come.

Congratulations to all on a great summer!!

Sincerely,

John Zinman
Senior League Commissioner
Co-Program Director

JUNIOR LEAGUES

There were three sets of junior league teams this summer. The first was the Lamkin league, name after one of West End's most respected families, the Lamkins. The Lumpys were the eventual champions, finishing just ahead of the Freds, Lees, and Moms.

The next league was the Jetson league, which was won by the Cogswell Cogs. The Cogs, as they were known to all their fans, topped the Spacely Sprockets, the Elroys and the Astros. The championship was theirs.

The final set of leagues was the rapper league. The Bobby Browns were the champions, edging out the Run DMC's, the LL Cool J's, and the Fab Five Freddy's.

At the beginning of the summer, reffing and coaching games required a lot of effort as the staff struggled to show many first year campers the way sports are played at West End. However, as the weeks went by and the campers "learned the beat," the games began to practically run themselves. Junior leagues were competitive and the campers really looked forward to the games. They, as well as I, took pride in their success. Best of luck who move up to "the show" -- senior leagues -- next summer.

Sincerely,

Dave Andelman

5A:

- Ed Sarcia -- No, but I'm a NOID; I do not look like Cooker! Guacamole is my favorite! Jon, Ed, let's go PEEBS!!
- Josh Mendelsohn -- Oh, I won't be on top of the 1990 placque; Hi, Cooker; I love Mike Jackson;
~~Hi, Hellboy; I love Metallica; Gimme' that branch, I need to pick my teeth.~~
- Brian Bloch -- I couldn't believe it: a 100 liter cup of coke and a potato chip factory for only 10¢!! I think it's time for another root beer barrel; Hey, Stu, how was Rio?
Put it in my name: B-L-O-C-H, I can't believe you blew that hoop game. CHEESE!!
- Danny "Cooker" Andelman -- I'm not a beach man, let's go to shops; It's 7:30, everybody off off my be. I'm goin' to sleep! They punched!! Let's go bowling.
He's my brother; Gimme 900 plain cheeseburgers.
- Billy "Carlos" Faria -- My mama makes a mean lasagna; By the way, my name is Sophie!! You want to go, SCRUUUUUUUUUUB!?!?! No, I'm no going Peebs. I've got to read my 2 pages.
- Solomon Ed Sherman -- Jon, let's go Peebs. It's kinda' funky. Cooker played fabulous. Why can't we lift during Color War? Can I sleep through song night?
- Todd "Myrna" Grossman -- plastic container, aloha, aloha, Cooker, come here and hold my arm.
I've got to go to the bathroom. We have to do "Welcome Back, Kotter!"
Jon, Ed, let's go Peebs!
- Hal Schwartz -- I've got an incredible idea, a robot with a funny face, let me get my scrap book and sketch for the Sears catalogue, I will not make your bed, I never cry in the bunk, Sorry!! OKAY!?! You're a sweeper tomorrow, AHRAHRAH. Where's that come from? BAD!! I've been on the blue team now for all of color war.
- Jon Santer -- Ed, let's go Peebs. Me and Ed are NOT the same person. Why can't we lift during Color War? For the White team -- OH YEAH!! No, Ani.
- Jon Alfred -- Oh, me Cooker and Matt Schubert couldn't beat Naked Zinny, Santosuosso, and Bo Jackson in football? Ba-ha-ha-ha. Nuke 'em. No you can't pick up Japanese television on my forehead. Jon, Ed, let's go Peebs.
- Brandon Rivera -- Hey, Bill, you want one of my mini pies? W'SAAP? Jon, Ed, let's go Peebs.
- Peter Lesburg -- I do not look like Chip. Stanky Spudanski, or the Beaver. No, I wouldn't cry. I'm not coming back next year because noone likes me. I know I'm ugly and lanky. Jon, Ed, let's go Peebs.
- Kevin Lustig -- I'm definitely not coaching! ONE!! WHERE'S ONE!?! Get your feet away from me. Jon, Ed, let's go Peebs.

Dave Lascelle: a new hair do.
Jason MacLean: a new and better attitude
Matt Andrews: soap and shampoo
Nick Brown: more packages for next year, and a great color war
Mike Hahn: a new fishing rod
Morry Levine: Blue Fever, and a great job beating his brother 2 years in a row
Jeremy Davis: responsibility, and a good sense of humor
Mark Lustig: his great temper, and his big chance of being a C.W. Coach (yeah right)
Adam Alfred: his junior league team 3 years in a row, and a job well done.

3B:

Kenny Ames: whah, whah, whah!! Oh my G-d! leave me alone, LAAAAAANE, get off my bed, whah!

Teddy Haas: This always happens to me. Shut up.

Jay Dolan: Come on, leave me alone. Let's go to Bill, NOW!! It's a hot one, baby.

Miguel Serrano: Hey get away from my stuff. Soccer's not my best sport.

Ben Miller: I'm gonna' pound you.

Brad Erlichman: $E=MC^2$ Einstein is my idol.

John Tenofsky: I'm John, Mike's over there.

Mike Tenofsky: I'm Mike, John's over there.

Lewis Tom: Me and Rebecca promised to keep in touch. I need to cut my nails. The Kita's are here. I'll go to the infirmary.

Erik Goroshko: So, I got another letter. They love me.

Joel Katzen: I'm a great athlete. Just ask me, I'll tell you.

Mike Yaffe: I have no idea how that sweatshirt got in my LOCKED trunk. No, Miguel Rodriguez is a good kid.

Dave Mendelsohn: Is that Freedom Rock? Well turn it up, DUDE!!

Dan Levine: Think! I'm much better looking than my brother. Concentrate.

Lane Davis: Yeah baby. Weeeeeener. No way. That's color war points.

WE LEAVE...

Kenny Ames: a deep voice, a box of Kleenex, sheet for his bed, and Lane.

Teddy Haas: a maid, an alarm clock, a belly burner, a diet plan, a new soccer ball, and panties.

Jay Dolan: a vacuum, very fine juice products, his thumb and pacifier

Miguel Serrano: Ben, stilts, soccer, and a new haircut

Ben Miller: braces, a new Larry Bird towel, Miguel and fighting lessons

Brad Erlichman: a huge 12-year old boy, weights and a football

John Tenofsky: his brother, and hopes that he returns next year.

Mike Tenofsky: his brother, and hopes that he returns next year.

Lewis Tom: the Kita's, Erik, unneeded trips to the infirmary, nail clippers, and a bowlcut

Erik Goroshko: Brian, humility, Rebecca and Elizabeth, Elizabeth and Rebecca, love letters, and Lewis.

Joel Katzen: his great athletic ability, all sports, boxing lessons, a taller haircut, and Adam and Dustin.

Mike Yaffe: Foxy, Teddy, lock pick, and Needham

Dave Mendelsohn: Jon and Ed and a reggae shirt

Dan Levine: a chest and a clean area

Lane Davis: Kenny, new unbent glasses, keg o' wrestling matches with Weeeeeener, a maid, and the broom he swept AB with.

4A:

I, Kevin Whiteside, being of sound mind and body, do bequeath the following to:

Billy Condon -- all my empty coke cans, my used Bugle Boy shirt, and all my brotherly love.

Steve DeMarco -- all my dirty sheets, my empty pizza boxes, and all my brotherly love.

Chris Davis -- all my unathletic ability, and all my brotherly love.

Sebouh Kandilian -- my southern accent.

Dave Voldan -- my singing ability,

Doug Mastrosimone -- my blown speakers, my ragged concert stubs, my faded concert shirts, Bugle Boy pants, and all my brotherly love.

Bob Zakon -- my torn trail maps, my LL Bean accessories, my Dexter shoes, my hick accent, and my worn out hiking boots.

Jamie Zibbell -- I leave behind our love/hate relationship.

Scott "Schnickel" Taitelbaum: Which part didn't you understand? Mic. Man, I hate those damn Cubans.

Scott "Splat" Rosenblatt: Why should I give you a Tic-Tac? I'm not cheap, I'm just saving 68 sodas for later.

Sean "Bonés" Farrell: Brookline rocks. Me and Jack play Pop Warner together. I'm not brain dead.

Aric "Big Toe" Colbath: My mother told me to measure my blood sugar level after every time I urinate.

Brent "B.J." "Rerun" "Nell-Carter" Smith: Mike, word. Ferrin's hit me for no reason. I don't tell lies.

Chris "Caloooooooooots" Calautti: Medford rules. Me, DeMarco, Billy should be tri-campers of the year.

Jan "?*!;" Bartunek: America, what a country. I love it. It's Twine time.

David "Albino" Starr: My brother blows up homeless people for fun.

Ethan "E.J." "N.E.B." Michelson: Mike, tennis is a man's game. The Atlanta Constitution is a very liberal paper. I had a great Color War. I'm the richest kid in camp.

Derek Silva: Oh hello Mike. How are you buddy?

Chris "Long" Pond: Being the door man is my life. Mike, where's my cooler? I'm not a moron.

Adam "Two Women" Ferrin: GOD!! It's twine time. I love Amy so much.

Matt "FATT" Bloch: I rule the rec hall with an iron hand.

Mike "Butthead" Andelman: I'll teach you guys that sometime. Hi fellas! Make my bed and locker now, E.J. I ran the best color war ever.

WE LEAVE...

Scott Taitelbaum: Plantation, Don Barsky, his cousins, Ann Linda, the Miami Heat, his bread and butter, and a good freshman year.

Scott Rosenblatt: his tic-tacs, Splat, Jr., Sharon, Bonnie, Jamie Zibell, more glow sticks, and McDonalds.

Sean Farrell: his voice, Devotion, Keith, Wonderboy, and Wonderboy

Aric Colbath: his big toes from hell, his distance swimming skills, his mother, and a low sodium level in his liver

BJ Smith: his tank top, his devil dogs, Brookline High, a louder voice, a rounder head, and a top bunk bed next year

Chris Calautti: Medford, his cross, the B's, the White Predators, and bigger teeth

Jan Bartunek: a passport, a green card, more comic books, bigger hair, and his leather underwear

David Starr: his tan, the Portland Marriott, some sleeping pills, the ice cream job, fake blood

EJ Michelson: eyebrows, Georgia, Gilbert, Andre Agassi, Ferrin, Freddy, fake Fevers during CW

Derek Silva: his sister, his bow, his clean area, David Starr, his belly, BJ's undies.

Chris Pond: jewelry, his container, his laundry bag, his mother (His maid), Derek Silva, his sleeping techniques, and the door bed

Adam Ferrin: Twine time t-shirt, Amy, his other girlfriend, more time to work his nique, the Maccabeah games, his Dad's bodybuilding trophies, his pot scrubbing skills, hopes he returns next year (maybe he can win more than a kickball game)

Mike Andelman: the Cooker, Dave, the White Quest, his baby powder, his riles, the Government, Winer, AB, and Liebs, his senior counselor bed, Bowdoin Univ, Dave's car, EJ's eyebrows, his new Trans Am, Ferrin's and EJ's eyebrows, and WHDH

GOTT:

John Zinman: Alvin, make my bed now! Color War, Color War, Color War!! I hate CW, I was robbed. That was the worst call ever. I can't wait for school.

Andy Zinman: I'm the ultimate male. Thank God there's only 2 days left in camp. Can I have your change so I can call Sandra?

Mike Santosuosso: You cream puff. Chop, chop, let's go. Eagerman: give me your bat. There's some chicks outside. Your mother is a #$$@*(&(#. HAAAAAAAAAAAAA, HAUSIDOO. Your Ron Cochran: Get off my bed. Give me some food. I'm not a scrub. SEVEN!!

Matt DeAngelis: How's it go? Easy there, killer! Michael is better than Larry.

Scott Eagerman: That was a sick one. Yes, I got another package. Legend lives on. LB!

Peter Fandel: I'll boof you, TAG TAG WORD!! Good apache relay.

Ron Glickman: Party time! Hook me up! PORKY GORNAN ZORKON TAITELSCHNICKEL

Dave Gorin: Let's ride the trolley. I'm Hañz, and I'm here to pump, you up. Are you ribbing me?!

Sean Kennedy: I'll make John's bed. Harrhh! Anyone want food. Your a piece of donkey hair. Easy chester.

Todd Paris: Santa, you owe me a mini pie. You wanna' party.

Adam Rakvica: CUT IT OUT!!

Eric Wilensky: Brett is the toughest in camp. He's a killer. Leger can beat up Glickman. I love Zinny.

Miguel Rodriguez: Hey man! I didn't dooooo it man. I don't have taco breath. My radio costs $300.00. I shower, what the hell man. Yous guys.

WE LEAVE...

John Zinman: his ZBT wardrobe, weights, Tony Mandarich, the Andelmans, the jr. apache relay, Dwight Day, a sausage mini pie, Eric Wilensky, a giant fan, and ROODY.

Andy Zinman: his calendar, his pictures, coaching CW, coaching CW in '90, Santa and the boys, and $250.00 for a phone call Mike Santosuosso: his hoods (FOX AND YAFFE), Ralph and Ralph, Don Corleone, Luke Abrozzi, Mike Corleone, Scarface, sausage, a payoff, and the White Syndicate.

Ron Cochran: Jerrie, his silver dollar nips, wrestling, and thongs.

Sean "Alvin" Kennedy: foot powder, footspray, anti-fungal detergent. his toe cheese, his smelly area, stinky socks, stinky sneakers, and a great year at Parlin.

Peter Fandel: Devotion, toy guns, heavy metal jacket, and a great year of basketball.

Scott Eagerman: 5A, CW Fakeout, packages, Stoughton.

Eric Wilensky: John Zinman, the Stoughton crew, Larry Bird, Santa, Dumbo ears, and a tan.

Dave Gorin: hair, the cheerios on his lips from the first week of camp

Adam Rakvica: stilts, Peter Pan, Wendy, twizzler lips

Miguel Rodriguez: a $300 box of plastic that makes noise, his terrible eye watering body odor, a taco, a bed, soap and shampoo

Todd Paris: home videos, and his camoflauge

Matt DeAngelis: Air Jordans and Lynnfield

Ron Glickman: Dave Gorin, Pillsbury Doughboy

1989 COLOR WAR FAKEOUT

Just as the color war coaches were preparing for the real thing, the kids in 5A were starting to prepare for one of their own. For the first time since 1984, there was going to be an actual color war fakeout. Every afternoon, for about two weeks, the 5A'ers met secretly in Arts and Crafts, slowly getting ready for what was going to be the best fakeout ever. They worked out every little detail, from signs to professionally made shirts to semi-accurate teams. This was going to be a night no one was going to forget.

After weeks of waiting and planning, the night finally came. It was Monday, June 9, and several campers had heard a rumor that Color War was going to start during the evening activity, A Night at the Races. After the third race ended, the campers in 5A became extremely nervous because they all knew that it was about to happen. They were all afraid that it wasn't going to work, or that someone found out and told everybody. They were acting just like the real coaches do right before the real thing starts! But, to their surprise, they were wrong. In the middle of the fourth race, just as planned, a "COLOR WAR IS NOW" sign appeared on the T.V. screen. Everybody ran up to the fields to find out what team they were on.

It was perfect. Everything fell right into place. All the campers were believing that color war actually had started. Forty-five minutes later, an announcement came on the loud-speaker saying: "You have just fallen for the 1989 5A FAKEOUT!!"

The Blue Legend and the White Quest will never be forgotten.

Thanks to Scott Eagerman and Ron Cochran of Gottlieb for helping out!!

Signed,

THE FAKERS OF 5A

COLOR WAR 1989

After Kevin Whiteside performed his clogging skills at talent night, he promised a second half to his show. Instead of the expected clarinet piece, when he blew the first note, blue and white papers flew everywhere. It was Wednesday, August 11, and Color War had officially started.

Everybody ran up to the fields to find out what team they were on. After about ten minutes of waiting, the final announcement came on telling the kids to go to the volleyball court or to the waterfront. Even though the Blue Fever defeated the White Predators by 64 points, the war was close the whole way through. Dave and Mike Andelman ran a terrific war.

Over the next 20 or so pages, you will find everything you ever wanted to know about the 1989 Color War...

Besides the Blue Fever and the White Predators, there was a third team in Color War this year (as usual). The referees were called the West End House Government and their job was to protect law and order in times of war. Headed up by the Andelman Brothers, the government was put up to a difficult task of mediating disputes and "calling them as they saw them." Although our government was as respected as the United States Government, they got the job done and they did it well. Special recognition goes to David and Michael for their long hours of preparation and organization, and for putting together an exciting Color War -- even with all the rain.

The teams, scores, and songs from this year's Color War are found on the following pages.
